FIND YOUR theme

The theme of your story is its deeper meaning — the emotional, moral, or philosophical takeaway that lingers after the final page. It's what your story is really about beyond plot and character. Whether you're writing fiction, memoir, or fantasy, identifying your theme early can help anchor your narrative and guide character decisions, plot developments, and emotional arcs.

THEME EXPLORATION

Your theme is the why behind your story. It reflects the emotional and moral journey at the heart of your plot. Is your story about healing? Redemption? The cost of ambition? Themes can be subtle or bold — they don't need to be stated outright, but they should resonate throughout your story's events, choices, and tone.

Examples of popular themes:

- Love conquers all
- Power corrupts
- Grief changes people
- Family is found, not born
- Freedom vs. control
- Survival through unity
- The illusion of perfection

THEME SELECTION:

Choose a theme that:

- Emotionally resonates with you
- Fits your characters' arcs
- Can evolve or be challenged over the course of the plot

Once selected, ask:

- Definition: What does this theme mean in your own words?
- Character Reflection: How does the main character embody or challenge this theme?
- Conflict: What opposing values or forces will test this theme?
- Symbolism: What objects, locations, or images could visually represent your theme?
- Resolution: What final message will your ending leave the reader with?

THEME BRAINSTORM

Before you begin writing, pause and ask:

- What core message or idea do I want to explore?
- Is there a personal belief or experience I want to express through fiction?
- What emotional truth should my characters wrestle with?

You might not know your theme yet — that's okay! Sometimes, your theme becomes clearer during revision. Still, reflecting now helps you craft intentional scenes with deeper impact.

MULTIPLE THEMES

Many great novels weave several themes together. For example, a story may explore both betrayal and forgiveness, or ambition and isolation. Just make sure they don't compete — they should complement each other and enrich the core message.

CHARACTER NAME:

WORLD- BUILDING & setting

SETTING exploration

Your story's setting is more than just a location — it creates tone, dictates limitations, shapes worldviews, and reveals hidden layers of your characters. The same plot can unfold in wildly different ways depending on where and when it's set. Try imagining your story across various backdrops to unlock fresh possibilities.

URBAN METROPOLIS	Skyscrapers, subways, and endless neon lights. Life moves fast, and anonymity breeds secrets. How does the buzz of the city amplify tension or isolate your characters? Could technology, crime, or politics shape your narrative?
SMALL TOWN OR VILLAGE	Tight-knit and full of unspoken rules. Gossip travels fast, and everyone knows each other. What hidden pasts, family legacies, or long-standing feuds influence your characters? What happens when someone disrupts the peace?
ISOLATED SPACE COLONY	Claustrophobic corridors, artificial air, and no way back to Earth. How does isolation affect relationships and power dynamics? What scientific advances or threats drive the plot? Who controls the colony, and what secrets are buried in the stars?
ANCIENT KINGDOM	Castles, scrolls, prophecy, and power. What traditions or class systems define this world? Are your characters part of a noble house or a rebellion? What ancient beliefs or supernatural forces influence their choices?
UNDERWATER CITY	Pressure, silence, and strange marine life. How does this unfamiliar ecosystem influence society? Is the city utopian, dystopian, or something in between? What resources or dangers lie outside its walls?
PARALLEL UNIVERSE OR ALTERNATE REALITY:	A world both familiar and altered. What rules are different here — time, physics, identity? How do those differences create conflict or opportunity? What version of your protagonist exists in this place?
POST-APOCALYPTIC LANDSCAPE:	Ruins, survival, and scarcity. What caused the collapse — war, climate disaster, plague? How has humanity adapted (or not)? Is there hope for rebuilding, or just a fight to stay alive?

SETTING exploration

LUSH FOREST OR JUNGLE	Dense, mysterious, and teeming with life. Does the wilderness heal, test, or trap your characters? Are there sacred groves, hidden temples, or ancient whispers among the trees?
MOUNTAINOUS REGION	High peaks, spiritual isolation, snow-covered paths. What enlightenment, danger, or inner journey awaits at the summit? Do monks live in solitude? Are ancient prophecies carved in stone
REMOTE ISLAND	Surrounded by sea, cut off from the known world. Is it paradise or purgatory? What forgotten rituals or spirits reside there? What happens when the tides shift?
SACRED DESERT	Harsh sun, endless dunes — a setting of survival and revelation. What visions or divine encounters happen under blazing skies? Are there pilgrimages, forgotten cities, or desert spirits?
MAGICAL FOREST REALM	Otherworldly and enchanted — glowing moss, timeless beings, and shifting landscapes. What ancient powers sleep here? What is the price of entering this sacred space?
ANCIENT KINGDOM OR HISTORICAL WORLD	Ruled by myth, monarchy, or ritual. How do belief systems shape society? Are temples central to life? What happens when faith is questioned?
PILGRIMAGE PATH OR SACRED JOURNEY	A physical journey through mountains, rivers, or spiritual cities — but also a symbolic one. Each stop challenges a wound: pride, anger, guilt, grief. The character meets strangers who carry messages or mirror their flaws. The journey ends with a surrender to God.
TEMPLE COMPLEX OR MONASTIC WORLD (NEW – SPIRITUAL)	A setting centered around ritual, reflection, and transformation. How does the architecture reflect inner peace or hidden darkness? What vows or truths shape the people within?
TECHNOCRATIC FUTURE	Automation rules, AI governs, and data is currency. What freedoms have been lost in the name of progress? Who resists? How do your characters navigate a world where every action is monitored?

You can respond to them directly or use them as journaling prompts.*

STORY DEVELOPMENT

What is the central message or theme of my story?	What would happen if the main character made the opposite choice?	What's at stake if the protagonist fails?

CHARACTER BUILDING

What does my character want vs. what do they need?	What's their greatest fear?	What memory still haunts them?

WORLD-BUILDING

What are the unspoken rules of this world?	How does this world shape the characters' choices?	What makes this setting unique or symbolic?

DIALOGUE & STYLE

Can I hear the character's voice in this scene?	Is the dialogue moving the story forward?	Does the tone match the emotion?

QUESTIONS about the plot?

Use these prompts to test the strength, clarity, and flow of your plot. They can help you identify gaps, deepen the conflict, or refine pacing.

CORE QUESTIONS

What is the main conflict driving the story?	What are the stakes for the protagonist?	What motivates each major plot decision?

STRUCTURE & FLOW

Does each scene push the story forward?	Are there any plot holes or unresolved threads?	Is the pacing consistent and engaging?

CONFLICT & TENSION

What obstacles are in the protagonist's way?	Does the tension rise steadily toward the climax?	Is the antagonist's goal believable and strong?

ENDING & RESOLUTION

Does the ending satisfy the story's central questions?	Are all major arcs resolved or intentionally left open?	What is the emotional impact of the final scenes?

QUESTIONS that can help

Use these prompts to guide your research, spark inspiration, and stay focused on what matters most.

TOPIC CLARITY

What exactly am I trying to learn or understand?	Why is this topic important to my story or world?	What do I already know—and what's missing?

SOURCE EVALUATION

Does it offer unique insights or just common knowledge?	Is this source reliable and relevant?	Can I cross-check this information with other materials?

APPLICATION TO STORY

How does this detail enrich my plot, setting, or characters?	Can this real-world fact inspire a fictional twist?	Where can I insert this research naturally into the story?

OTHERS

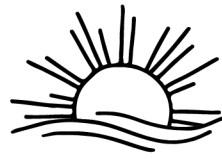

INSPIRATION gallery

Use this page to collect images, quotes, color palettes, textures, and symbols that visually represent the tone, world, characters, or emotion of your story.

A collection of 20 empty rectangular frames of various sizes and orientations, arranged in a grid-like fashion. The frames are designed to be used for collecting visual inspiration for a story.
